

The Bishop of Lincoln

Easter 2017

From the Bishop of Lincoln

I love Easter eggs! When I go to church on Easter morning, I look forward to having some chocolate later. But I'm sometimes a little bit sad if the egg is hollow and there's nothing inside.

Then I remember what Easter is all about. On the first Easter Day, Jesus came back to life after he had died, and quietly left his tomb when no-one was there. Then some people came and saw that the tomb was empty, and they were a little bit sad too.

Then they all found out that Jesus wasn't dead any more, but was alive, and was going to change the whole world by being outside the tomb again. That made them happier than they had ever been before. Jesus promised us that the world can be a really happy place if we listen to what he tells us, and that's what we're still doing today.

Have a very happy Easter, and don't eat too much chocolate at once!

With every good wish,
